Versatility Meets Comfort: Indiana Furniture Kicks Off the New Year with Script and Workmate

JASPER, IN — February 10, 2026 — Indiana Furniture is starting the new year with the debut of two dynamic product lines designed to redefine flexibility, comfort, and creativity in today's evolving workspaces. Introducing Script Lounge and Workmate Tables—two solutions engineered to meet the needs of diverse users, environments, and workstyles.

Built around the principles of personalization, comfort, and choice, Script Lounge offers the freedom to “configure your own story.” This people-centric collection combines freestanding and modular forms to balance privacy with collaboration, empowering individuals, and teams to tackle any task throughout the day. With three back heights, linear and curved options, coordinating tables, tapered or sled bases, and the ability to personalize with contrasting upholsteries, Script delivers design versatility from casual to sophisticated settings. Script models extend their usability with junior-sized options and robust weight-capacity ratings—supporting adults up to 400 pounds and junior users up to 275 pounds.

Complementing Script, the Workmate line introduces a compact, lightweight table solution designed for an increasingly mobile workforce. With quick and easy height adjustability, Workmate supports seamless transitions from sitting to standing and adapts effortlessly to group meetings, focused individual work, or on-the-go productivity. Its versatility makes it an ideal sidekick for classrooms, offices, lounges, or touchdown zones.

“Script and Workmate fill a meaningful niche in today's market—one that blends thoughtful design with comfort, flexibility, and value,” stated Mike Blessinger, Vice President of Sales and Marketing at Indiana Furniture. “Organizations are looking for furniture that supports a wide range of users, encourages movement, and elevates the workplace experience without overcomplicating it. These products accomplish all of that with simplicity and style. We're excited to bring solutions that truly meet people where they are and how they work.”

With these new introductions, Indiana Furniture continues its commitment to providing adaptable, design-forward furnishings that elevate environments across corporate, education, healthcare, and community spaces.
